DC Council Firm On Garbage Rate Boost

By JANET PARKER
Staff Writer

A 28 per cent rate hike for the Daly City Scavenger Co. was severely criticized again by several angry residents Monday night.

They told the Daly City City Council that the higher rates are not justified and that they raise questions about the company's ability to manage itself.

The council on May 24 approved new rates after accountant Richard Dwyer said the company is facing a deficit. A group of citizens has been up in arms ever since.

Dwyer had cited increased labor rates and the need to buy expensive new equipment.

Monday's complaints started when Julius Castelan asked the council why it had ignored his request in May that an independent audit of the company's records be conducted before a rate hike is granted.

Castelan repeated that request, asking that the audit be conducted in the next 30 days and that the rate hike be delayed until the audit is completed.

"We were not given the due consideration that's given to anyone in this city," Castelan said.

Other residents, who have since formed the Daly City League of Associations, joined him in that request.

Resident Harold Calder then voiced his protest.

"I'm extremely concerned," Calder said. "A 20 per cent increase is one heck of an increase."

Calder said the company's claim that it needs such an increase makes residents wonder if it is an efficient company. "We can't afford this garbage company," Calder said. "It's that simple."

He also said certain activities associated with the rate increase may be legal but ethically, they are wrong.

For example, he said, a former city councilman and city attorney, Paul Hupf, is representing the garbage company in negotiations with the city and with the Teamsters' Union.

He said the city is providing the scavenger company with land, funds for new equipment through a rate increase and "a fat profit."

The audit, he said, should be conducted immediately to clear the air.

"We don't want to find than an independent audit is being conducted by someone in someway connected with City Hall," he said. "It doesn't look good."

Mrs. Reva Krips said it looks as if the City of Daly City is running the scavenger company.

It sounds like the company doesn't have the ability to manage itself, she said.

"Have you been used by the scavenger company and you don't know it?" she asked.

Councilman William Schumacher explained that the council plans to conduct an independent audit of the company after negotiations with the Teamsters Union have been completed.

Schumacher said the council decided to approve the rate hike in May, so that it would set a ceiling on labor negotiations. The company employes, members of Teamsters Local 350, couldn't expect to obtain a higher salary increase that the company can afford under the terms of the rate hike.

Scavenger company attorney Hupf said the labor negotiations apparently are stalled.

The company made a proposal to the union leaders on Friday which was not accepted. As a result, the labor dispute probably will go to federal mediation, he said.

The company had offered the drivers a salary increase of 61 cents an hour the first year and 55 cents each of the two following years. It would have raised drivers' salaries from $6.17 to $6.78 an hour, he said.

The union is seeking a $3 hourly increase each of three years, he said.

Our proposal was fair to

Geneva Discotheque

DC Citizens Complain, Cleanup is Ordered

The owners of a Daly City discotheque have been granted 30 days to clean up their property and to prove their business isn't a public nuisance.

The Daly City City Council made that decision Monday after a petition signed by 44 residents charged that Rabb's Plantation House, a bar and restaurant, at 2666 Geneva Ave., has made their life miserable.

They said that the noise from the business every night is a disturbance. And, they claimed that the patrons park in their driveways, on the sidewalk and double park in the streets at all hours often making it difficult for residents to use their own cars.

See related story, Page 17

Those who signed the petitions live on streets near the bar, including Rio Verde, Calgary and Oriente Streets.

Joseph Gomez, who lives on Rio Verde, said that the police department has not cooperated with residents and has not ticketed cars double-parked in front of houses.

"It's not a one-shot occasion," Gomez said. "It happens all the time."

He added that garbage from the Plantation House has piled up on nearby property and that rats have even been seen in the area.

Another resident, Bing Jew of Rio Verde, said he has been trying to sell his house for three months, but the condition of the nearby Plantation House has scared away potential buyers.

Two of the discotheque's owners — brothers Charles and James Rabb — said that some of the residents' statements simply are not true.

Charles Rabb said patrons are told not to park in driveways and they follow that request. In fact, he said, he often calls the police department himself to have illegally parked vehicles ticketed.

He also said the noise is only loud when the bar door is open. In recent weeks, the owners said, they have ordered the volume reduced.

"It's not so much the noise and blocking of driveways," Rabb said. "I'm afraid they are complaining that they don't want us there."

James Rabb said many of the problems cited by residents already have been alleviated. At one point, he suggested that perhaps the residents' concerns were racial discrimination. The owners are black.

"Don't bring racism into this," Councilman Albert Teglia demanded.

James Rabb said the residents should have

Council Sets Annexation

A public hearing to consider the proposed annexation of Unincorporated Colma to Daly City will be held on Aug. 16 before the Daly City Council.

The City of Daly City is applying to the Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO) for the annexation on behalf of a group of Unincorporated Colma residents, who petitioned for annexation.

A petition in opposition to the annexation also has been submitted to the City Council.

The Planning Commission last week certified an Environmental Impact Report concerning the proposed annexation.

The final decision concerning annexation must be made by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors.

LAFCO is expected to act in September and the supervisors in November, placing the annexation question on the March 1977 ballot.

Homes in Pacifica Periled

About 40 firemen and dozens of volunteers battled a fire late Monday afternoon that for a time threatened homes in the Rockaway Beach District of Pacifica.

The fire, which spread over 20 steep, brush-covered acres behind the district in south Pacifica, briefly spread near the residential area. The wind shifted, however, sparing the homes.

The fire, which started around 3 p.m., took firemen from Pacifica, the Division of Forestry, Point Montara and Half Moon Bay, about an hour and a half to control.

Ten engines were called in to fight it, as well as members of Pacifica's Parks, Beaches & Recreation and Public Works Departments.

In addition, Rockaway Beach homeowners, shoveling dirt and lifting hoses, joined in the fight.

According to the fire department, the fire burned two parcels of property owned by the Sierra Club and a developer, Challenge Properties.

The cause of the fire is under investigation.

Beauty Strives for Milk-Bottle Figure

By JANET REINKA
Staff Writer

Skinny legs, bulging eyes, and hair like a wire brush.

But even as a kid, she had something extra going for her, an asset that may win China Belland a beauty prize at the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta.

"She's got a big belly," said her owner, Raiina Belland, 16, of Pacifica, matter-of-factly. "That's what the judges look for."

While this year's Dream Girl contestants worked hard to achieve an hourglass shape, nannies like China have also struggled for a shape that is equally classic — the unsexy, utilitarian milk bottle.

So, the 30 dairy goats in San Mateo County who will be competing at the fair have been buckling down lately for some serious eating for this year's judging.

So strict has China been with herself, for example, that she climbed into her grain trough and literally ate herself stuck.

Now that was enough to get even a goat's goat, but China, a gentle, good-humored animal, took it all in stride once she was rescued.

Contrary to a myth that must have grown up in the city, goats do not eat tin cans.

"People think that because goats eat the labels," Raiina explained. "They like the taste of the glue."

A rabbit, on the other hand, will as soon eat a peanut butter and jelly sandwich as a carrot or alfalfa pellets, according to Nancy Sutherland, 13.

Along with Raiina and several other members of local 4-H Clubs and their animals, Nancy and her three rabbits recently were at the Hyatt Regency in San Francisco showing off for the city folks.

Nancy has managed to pull a trick or two out of her rabbits. One of them, for example, will humor Nancy long enough to roll a can back and forth with her nose.

When the rabbit tires of the game, she turns the can up on its end.

Although the rabbit was in no mood for that, the goats were willing to entertain the crowd in San Francisco and stood still for a milking contest.

With one of the youngsters providing a running commentary, the others squeezed from the top of the nipple on down, racing to fill up buckets with rich goat's milk.

And the winner — a 4-year-old named Maudie, after the owner's grandmother. Liz Morgan, 14, of Woodside, managed to squeeze 3.2 pounds of milk out of Maudie for the championship.

For the fair, the goats will be judged on their "conformation," or good looks. In addition to a big belly, they should have good spacing between the ribs and the back legs. They also will be judged on how they stand and walk.

The fair continues through Aug. 7.

Broadmoor Police Opening

Supervisors Plan Interviews

By BOB HEMINGWAY
Staff Writer

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors will interview two men seeking the vacant position on the Broadmoor Board of Police Commissioners before making an appointment.

Mike Handlin, who sought the post of Commission Chairman Jack McClosky in last June's unsuccessful recall election, wants to be named to the commission, as does Dean Davenport, a private investigator.

When the appointment matter was before the board today, McClosky appeared to protest appointment of Handlin, stating it would be "absurd" to name the person who had opposed him in the recall effort.

Supervisor Edward J. Bacciocco Jr. said he was inclined to agree, but added that the board should decide on the basis of the best qualified candidate.

Supervisor John M. Ward suggested that the board let the community decide who should receive the appointment.

Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald said he believes the board is objective enough to make the decision.

Handlin urged an early decision because the commission must decide soon whether to place a tax rate increase proposal for the police district on the ballot in the Nov. 2 general election.

The board subsequently set a date of Aug. 3 at 9 a.m. to interview the two candidates.

DC Girl Hurt in Shooting Mishap

A 17-year-old Daly City girl apparently was accidentally shot by a friend who was showing her a gun Monday night.

The girl, Michele Gonzales of 344 Westlake Ave., was shot in the stomach about 8:30 p.m., but she waited more than an hour before seeking medical attention, police said.

Miss Gonzales was rushed to Alemany Emergency Hospital in San Francisco by the mother of a girlfriend and hospital officials called the police.

According to police reports, Miss Gonzales reluctantly told them that a friend, Robin Muniz, was showing her the gun in a storage room at the rear of his home at 56 Miriam St., when the gun accidentally went off.

Questioned by police, Muniz said he thought the gun, which was loaned to him by a friend, was unloaded. After the accident, he gave the gun, believed to be a 38-caliber weapon, back to the friend, and the gun has not been recovered, police said.

The bullet which went through Miss Gonzales stomach and out her back has not been recovered. She later was transferred to Mary's Help Hospital.

Since the shooting appeared to be an accident, police have not arrested Muniz, but investigators still are trying to find the gun.

Guard Wounded

A security guard at the El Rancho Super Market at 2665 Geneva Ave. in Daly City was stabbed Saturday while trying to break up a disturbance at the store.

Police said Lautoa Lautoa Jr., 36, received a four-inch wound in his back near the rib cage around noon. The suspect, an unidentified Filipino, fled the scene.

$250,000 SSF Heist

Gold, Silver Crystals Stolen From Refinery

The FBI has entered the investigation into the robbery of a South San Francisco refinery of an estimated $250,000 worth of gold and silver crystals.

The FBI has become involved on the presumption that interstate transportation is involved.

The robbery last Friday by three armed men wearing ski masks is the third known incident of this kind involving the Wildberg Bros. firm in a decade.

In August of 1965 thieves stole 95 pounds of gold from an acid tank at the firm. The value of that gold was estimated to be about $49,000.

Four men were eventually apprehended, tried and convicted in that case.

Early in 1967 another $20,000 worth of gold and silver was taken from the Oyster Point Boulevard company.

A portion of the metals was recovered in both previous cases.

In this latest theft the armed threesome loaded several heavy plastic drums full of valuable crystals onto a white Dodge van after overpowering a company guard, 26-year-old Lucas Carnel of Hayward.

According to a report from the South San Francisco Police Department, Carnel was accosted at about 3 a.m. Friday.

The trio took Carnel's keys and placed him in a storage room. It was 4:30 a.m. before he was able to break out and call police.

By that time the drums had been forklifted onto the van and removed from the refinery's warehouse.

Friday's theft is believed to be the biggest in the history of the firm, a police source said today.

Descriptions of the suspects are incomplete. They are identified only as white males.

Southland Arrest in Murder, Robbery

An ex-convict wanted for the robbery and murder of a Daly City man who disappeared during a weekend trip to Reno in June was arrested Monday in Los Angeles.

Jerry Thomas Miller, 26, the alleged accomplice of Nikki Lee Diamond, a transsexual, was arrested by Los Angeles police and will be turned over to Placer County authorities.

Police said the pair shot Thompson in the back of the head in a clearing off the roadway near Reno and started across the country using Thompson's car and credit cards.

Diamond was arrested in Maine and allegedly led authorities to Thompson's body. She also reportedly implicated Miller in the murder, according to police.

Miller was picked up at his home in Temple City after a routine visit to his parole officer. He apparently was unaware that he was being sought.

The case is being handled by Placer County authorities.

Contender Gains Allies In Fight With Tax Man

By VERA GRAHAM

It's not Don Quixote. It's Greg Nakagawa.

Nor is it windmills he's tilting at. It's that titan of federal bureaucracies — the Internal Revenue Service (IRS).

But it just might be that Greg Nakagawa, 30, is not dreaming an impossible dream in fighting for first his, and now a friend's, civil and constitutional rights and challenging the interpretation of tax laws.

Nakagawa lives at 613 Mason Ave. in San Bruno. He is an insurance salesman and is getting to be a full-time pain in the neck to IRS.

It seems Nakagawa was being audited for a second time by IRS a couple of months ago.

To keep all the data straight, he asked to be allowed to tape record the running commentaries, questions and answers.

The IRS employe frowned at such effrontery. "No," he told the San Brunan. "You have to get permission from the district director of the IRS."

Nakagawa's response was that he had a constitutional right to take the data down. The first summons was abruptly discontinued.

But a second summons followed in June, this time with each side taping the other.

Those proceedings were abruptly suspended after Nakagawa insisted, "Before you go any further, you have to read me my rights under the Miranda ruling."

Nakagawa reports, "They refused. They said these were civil not criminal proceedings, and that's where there is a very real difference of opinion."

Nakagawa is getting advice from a professor of law, from tax attorneys and other authorities who are beginning to really research the law. It is a matter of note that they are beginning to say that Nakagawa may be on a very good track in his dispute. "So far everyone has been assuming that you waive your civil rights when you sign the 1040 form. But you really don't," he says. "If we get down to basic law, under the civil law a financial penalty can be considered nominal, punitive or compensatory.

"Criminal law, on the other hand, prescribes a fine and-or imprisonment. Therefore the IRS, which does subject people to fines and-or imprisonment, is based in criminal law."

Nakagawa notes, "I have a number of legal bodies helping me on the background."

One, he reports, is a professor of law who has told him there is a bone of contention as to whether the income tax law violation is a matter of civil or criminal law.

In their dealings with Nakagawa, the IRS officers apparently decided the whole thing was much more trouble than it was worth and withdrew proceedings against him.

They were through.

But Nakagawa wasn't.

A friend of his, Lynn Giles of 557 3rd Ave., San Bruno, next-door neighbor of Nakagawa's father in-law, found an IRS summons in his mailbox.

"He told me about his troubles, and I decided to join him — with my tape recorder," Nakagawa grinned.

He added that when he was in his tangle with IRS, he was extended the proper courtesy to determine whether he should have his session with the auditors in the San Mateo office or in San Francisco. His convenience was served in the San Mateo office.

Giles, however, was given no option. He was ordered to the federal

Rivals for Sister City Status

Facing Sibling Rivalry Italian-Style

By JANET PARKER

South San Francisco is facing some competition in its bid for Sister City status with the city of Lucca in Italy, Mayor Leo Padreddii has learned.

Padreddii returned last week from four weeks in Italy including nine days with his own relatives in Lucca.

South San Francisco has an active Italian community and many residents are from or have relatives in the city of Lucca, Padreddii said.

That's why Padreddii suggested to the rest of the council earlier this year that it pursue the Sister City relationship.

South San Francisco already is linked with the city of Philadelphia as a Sister City but does not have an international relationship.

Padreddii said he met with Lucca Mayor Mauro Favilla to discuss the possibility of joining the two cities.

Favilla said Lucca already has four sister cities — in France, Belgium, Germany and England.

The eight councilmen and the mayor of Lucca would like to have an American Sister City, he said.

However, another city in Southern California with an Italian background also has requested the consideration of Lucca's council, Padreddii learned.

The Lucca City Council is on vacation. When it reconvenes in October, it will determine which city it wants for its Sister City, he said.

Why have a Sister City?

It promotes friendship around the world, Padreddii said. It also serves as an exchange program for students, he said.

Lucca has 97,000 residents and is one of the oldest cities in Italy.

The mayor defended the trip against criticism by some South San Franciscans that it occurred at an inappropriate time. There were concerns that the trip should have been cancelled since the city is now without a city manager and its proposed 1976-77 budget still has a $450,000 deficit.

In fact, one other councilman — Richard Battaglia — originally planned to participate in the tour. He cancelled saying that he couldn't leave the city with so many problems on the table.

"We wouldn't do anything to hurt the rity," Padreddi said. He said while on tour, they called South San Francisco City Hall once a week to see if there were any emergencies.

It would have been possible, he said, to return home in one day.

"I don't think it was fair to say we didn't care about the city," he said.

The three councilmen spent July 4 — America's bicentennial — aboard the U.S. destroyer frigate Moinester.

The ship was docked off Taromina near the city of Sicily when the councilmen spotted it.

After meeting the staff commander, they were invited on board as his guest.

The ship, he said, was docked there on its way to Spain.

Padreddii said he regretted not being in America for the bicentennial but noted that South San Francisco's celebration isn't until Sept. 14.

"There was absolutely nothing scheduled here anyway," he said.

Padreddii said he will be awaiting word from Lucca's mayor concerning the Sister City decision.

Youthful Burglary Ring Believed Broken

A ring of juvenile burglars, accused of robbing at least nine homes in the Crestmoor-Rollingwood areas of San Bruno during the last month, reportedly has been broken up.

San Bruno police said they arrested four juveniles between the ages of 14 and 15 Thursday. They said the youths had been linked to nine and possibly 10 burglaries in the two upper middle class residential areas.

Police said the usual method the youths used was to gain entrance to homes through unlocked garages or windows, steal money, jewelry, stereo equipment and other items, and then sell the items to unknown individuals.

They stole a minimum of $2,000 worth of merchandise, police said, and the department is trying to recover it.

Cleanup

brought their complaints directly to the owners of the discotheque.

"We would have been glad to go over the complaints with people and correct them," he said.

Another owner, David Barrett, said that the overflow from the Cow Palace across the street from the bar also is partially responsible for the parking problem.

City Atty. Albert Polonsky said the engineering department has reported that there are 15 items the bar's owners have failed to do in a recent remodeling project. That department recommends the discotheque be closed until those requirements are met.

"I appreciate that these matters take time, but you begin to wonder after a while," Polonsky said.

The owners said they are in the process of doing many of those things now and some already are done.

Polonsky also noted that city ordinance requires live music to cease at 1 a.m. The discotheque — which presently closes at 2 a.m. — also should comply with that ordinance, he said.

Polonsky suggested the 30-day period for Rabb's Plantation House to comply with city requirements.

If there's no improvement in 30 days, Polonsky said, the city will prepare a lawsuit and seek a cease and desist order, closing down the business.

"I think these are significant complaints that entitle these people to some redress," Polonsky said.

Councilmen asked for a complete report by the police department — considered a neutral party in the complaint — of the noise levels and parking problem.

That report and the status of the required building improvements will be aired in a public hearing Aug. 23.

the men, as well as to the people of Daly City," he said.

With the new rate increase, the proposal would, at best, give the company a minimal profit, Hupf said.

The council agreed to take up the terms of an audit at its Aug. 23 meeting.

The audit, Councilman Albert Teglia said, will be conducted only when negotiations are completed.

Accountant Dwyer had said the company registered an average $22,000 loss in the first quarter of this year. During the same period in 1975, it showed a profit of $44,000, he said.

He projected equipment replacement costs of $400,000 in the next two years.

In the rate hearings in May, residents had charged that the company is making a substantial profit, particularly since each of the five company shareholders received a cumulative annual salary of $185,800 for the past two years.

The Camper Moved

DC Woman Routs Thief

A plucky Daly City woman who was camping in her front yard apparently scared off a would-be robber early today.

Daly City police said Minnie T. Bryant, 55, was sleeping in the camper parked in front of her home at 487 Templeton St. to make room for visiting relatives from Florida.

Shortly before 1 a.m., she woke up because the camper seemed to be moving. Finding nothing out of the ordinary, she went back to bed.

It wasn't long before the truck seemed to be moving again. Mrs. Bryant got up again and looked through the curtains between the camper and the truck's cab.

In the cab was a man who appeared to be searching for property, police said. Gripped by fear, Mrs. Bryant grabbed her gun and ran out of the camper.

The man got out of the cab, raised what appeared to be a knife over his head and came at Mrs. Bryant, who retreated up the front stairs of her home, according to police.

She then turned and fired two .38 caliber shots wildly, one hitting into the camper and the other into a garage across the street, police said.

The suspect, described as a Latino in his early 20s and having bushy hair, ran east on Templeton Street, dropping Mrs. Bryant's purse.

building at 450 Golden Gate Ave.

"In addition to the fact that they did not give him a choice as to where he would be more conveniently served, they gave him an auditor who was not an accountant, but an employe trained only in the IRS background," Nakagawa reports.

"When I went in for my audit, I had a business person, an IRS agent who has an accounting background. A wage-earner, however, it appears, is generally audited by a tax auditor without the accounting experience."

Meanwhile, Nakagawa notes, it appears he has captured the attention of the media. He may well be on his way to becoming a folk hero.

Anyhow, as he reports it, when he showed up with Giles, he was confronted by a battery of wary IRS agents who kept their eyes and ears on him. They were equipped with tape recorders.

"We had a fine time taping each other," he added.

"The tax auditor was a Mr. H. Jeffrey, and he was with his group manager, Mr. Richard Silverstein. We immediately went into the fact that we were here for the audit of Mr. Giles' tax return, and we were introduced to everyone there. Then Mr. Jeffrey proceeded to ask Mr. Giles whether he operated out of various beauty salons (he is a hairdresser). He said he did.

"I suggested at that point that he ask that his rights be read to him under the Miranda ruling.

"They said they wouldn't do so because it's just a civil case.

"Mr. Giles told them that he wouldn't participate unless they did read him his rights.

"Then they said they would arbitrarily disallow all of his deductions.

"That's the way they operate. That's a case of trying to intimidate, to scare a person. That's their only alternative. That's what they do and most of us taxpayers give in and give up.

"We don't intend to give in or give up. We are ready to stand and do battle and get as much public help as we can," Nakagawa declared.

"They are claiming the IRS operating manual is law. It is a serious question. There is a federal law which is involved and violation of that law becomes a criminal action carrying a penalty of a fine and/or imprisonment.

Now that's what you could call a question.

And if it should be ruled that the IRS is operating under a law which carries criminal penalties and millions have coughed up billions of dollars over the years in fines and back pay — what a field day in court it could be.

By JANIE WATSON
Correspondent

The most frequent question at the library for the past year — ranking right up there with "Where's the restroom?" — has been, "Do you have any books about sharks?" (Translated: "I just saw Jaws, and I want to know if that can really happen!")

The shark craze seems to have died down now, but in its wake have appeared dozens of fearsome forms of fauna, page and screen show man defending himself against spiders, bears, frogs and dogs.

Fear of animals has been a constant theme in life and literature. The very word beast, originally defined as "any animal except man," was probably derived from an Indo-European base meaning "that which is feared."

Some animals were thought to embody evil; cats or birds were seen as the "familiars" or servants of witches, while vampires were said to transform themselves into bats, wolves or other creatures.

But how to explain the current proportions of animal-phobia reflected in popular books and movies? Perhaps, as a parallel to today's ecological awareness, there is the underlying realization that man is the only being who has tried to manipulate nature rather than fit into its patterns.

For centuries man has used and destroyed other animals, and now they are ready to rise up en masse against him. ("Critter lib"). Or, perhaps, it's just for the thrill and chill of it all.

Sharks have only bit parts ("ouch") in Peter Benchley's newest novel, The Deep — the beastly villain here is a giant moray eel. The scene is Bermuda, the characters honeymooners, the action diving for buried treasure in two shipwrecks, one atop the other.

The top one contains ampules of morphine and artillery shells; the bottom one, a king's ransom in jewelry.

Though the book contains many improbabilities and some weaknesses in dialogue and characterization, there is plenty of fast-paced good-guys-vs.-bad-guys action as the main characters seek to raise the treasure while avoiding: a) the artillery shells; b) the eel; and c) drug traffickers wanting the morphine.

Another action-filled animal adventure is Paul Allen's novel, "Apeland," which, surprisingly enough from the title, concerns a female ape who escapes from a Florida zoo in search of her mate. She is "dangerous" but no more so than the armed band of men and boys who pursue her into the forest, ready to shoot if human life seems threatened.

Setting, plot and characterizations combine effectively to provide an unsettling look into the violent tendencies of man and beast.

Snakes and sharks are scary, but perhaps more threatening to man is the thought that animals usually friendly to or those domesticated by him may suddenly strike out.

Hitchcock's film, "The Birds," played successfully on this idea, as did Burton Roueche's 1974 novel, "Feral," in which abandoned cats turn wild and band together to terrorize a town.

Robert Calder's new novel, "The Dogs," again the title provides no surprises; is another variation on the theme. Man's best friend becomes his foe as a murderous pack of dogs roams the countryside, described by the author with chilling detail and suspense.

An amusing and welcome alternative to the Jaws genre is Robert Rood's entertaining, informative book, "It's Going to Sting Me," subtitled "A Coward's Guide to the Great Outdoors."

Rood, a former professor of biology, has written several popular nature books, including "Who Wakes the Groundhog" and "How Do You Spank a Porcupine." His latest offering provides down-to-earth advice for dealing with ominous creatures from mosquitoes to mountain lions, and for combating the unfounded fears they create in us all.

In 10 delightfully writeen chapters — titled "Scuttlers and Slinkers," "Eyes in the Evergreens," etc. — the author discusses the many "purveyors of panic" and presents clear, fascinating explanations of why they screech and creep and bite and sting, or at least look like they might. An excellent antidote for adults and children alike.

County Position

SSF Planner to Leave His Job

Three months after the Planning Commission fought to retain his position, South San Francisco City Planner David Hale has submitted his resignation.

Hale will begin working for the San Mateo County Planning Department as a principal planner on Aug. 2.

The city planner said it was a good offer that he couldn't refuse.

"One works in a place until he feels it is time to move" Hale said. "I guess it's time to move. It just so happened there was a job in the county and I applied."

However, there was some indication that Hale was leaving for additional reasons.

In March, the City Council decided behind closed doors to eliminate the job of city planner from the 1976-77 budget. Hale was informed by letter that he would no longer have a job as of June 30.

When the planning commissioners learned of the council's action several weeks later, they fought to retain that position. The council relented and agreed to retain it. However, the position of assistant city planner, held by Mike Dulpo, was eliminated instead.

In a letter to the City Council, Hale said he was resigning "without any hoopla."

In another letter to planning commissioners delivered Saturday, Hale explained his resignation.

"I am leaving the city much earlier than I had expected, certainly before accomplishing much of the work we had set out to do," he said.

"However, without adequate staff, the necessary work for a smoothly operating office cannot be handled and a proper job cannot be done," Hale said.

He said, however, that he did not want his resignation to appear as a response to the council's earlier decision to eliminate his job.

"This has been a valuable and memorable experience," he said. His new job occasionally will bring him in contact with South San Francisco staff, he said.

"I'd like to make a quiet exit," he said.

He said he has some apprehensions about leaving the Planning Department with only a secretary still remaining.

Acting City Manager Frank Addiego said the City Council will discuss how to fill the vacancy at its meeting Wednesday.

"We're going to have to do something immediately," Addiego said.

After Hale leaves, Addiego said, most of the planning responsibilities will fall on the shoulders of Zoning Administrator Bill Costanzo. In fact, Costanzo probably will be responsible for the controversial Sutter Hill shopping center project coming before the City Council on an appeal Aug. 4.

Hale's resignation brings the total number of top-level staff positions presently vacant to five.

The city manager was fired in June and a replacement won't be hired for two months. Assistant City Manager Mike Wilson is on leave and the council has eliminated the positions of director of finance and assistant city planner.

Addiego would not say what recommendation he will make to the council for replacing Hale.

He did say the replacement procedure wil be discussed with the Planning Commission.

Planning Commissioner Herbert Goldberg said he is sorry to see Hale leave.

"He's a very conscientious young man," Goldberg said. "He would have become a very effective planner."

The council's action to replace Hale, he added, will determine the future of the Planning Commission and the Planning Department.

"We pressured them last time," he said. "I, for one, don't want to do it again." The decision, Goldberg said, should be left to the elected officials, the City Council.

If the council decides not to replace the planner or to make it a part-time position, that decision should stand and the Planning Department should adjust, he said.

Commissioner Roberta Teglia expressed great disappointment at Hale's resignation.

"San Mateo County's gain is our loss," she said.

She said she hopes the council will take the task of filling the position seriously.

"I certainly hope the council is not tempted to cut the position," she said.

Airport Contract Let

"The largest single construction contract ever awarded by the City and County of San Francisco," a $50 million job of completing the Central Parking garage at International Airport, has been awarded to a Los Angeles firm.

Airport Commissioners awarded the contract to Robert E. McKee Co. during a Tuesday afternoon session at San Francisco City Hall.

Completion of the 3,900-auto addition is to take 885 calendar days and is scheduled for December of 1978.

The contract also calls for modifying the upper and lower level loop roadways, and installing a central cooling and heating plant and electrical gear. Airport planners said the work would create 1,500 local jobs.

VFW Official to Visit in August

The Twelfth District VFW Auxiliary President, Mary Rudd of Redwood City, will visit Tanforan VFW Auxiliary No. 2517 August 9 to conduct her annual official inspection.

The District President witnesses all phases of the auxiliary's ritual procedures, brings new by-laws initiated since the last official visit, and renders advice when any deviation from protocol is apparent.

Once a year the auxiliary ladies are privileged to welcome the district president, present her with a token gift of appreciation and honor her with a buffet luncheon following inspection.

The auxiliary's official hostess, Rose Fisher, will provide table decorations in keeping with the District President's chosen colors and her theme "Up-Up and Away," which is symbolized by the old-fashioned balloon basket.

July 18, the auxiliary's Publicity Chairman, Fernie I. Hull, as well as the Twelfth District's Publicity Chairman, attended a School of Instruction held at the Veterans Building, 1455 Madison Ave., Redwood City, to present her 1976-1977 Publicity Program to the auxiliaries functioning within the Twelfth District.

She is also the publicity chairman for the Edmund Parrott Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary No. 16 as well as the Commander of that Auxiliary.

Tanforan President Veronica Nellen and three of her chairwomen, Meta Roberts, Ruth Lee, and Irene Aurand, were among those assembled for the instruction meeting.

Dental Lecturer Set at Library

Mrs. Halterman will talk about dental care, cavity prevention, and what to expect when you go to the dentist. She will have some slides to show and, also, will bring along some instruments that are used by dentists and dental hygienists.

Sanchez Book club meets for school-age children Aug. 4 and 18. They will be talking about books and making a story-quilt.

Aug. 6 at the Sanchez Library the speaker will be Deema Savage, Pacifica Historian — who will be talking about Pacifica history. Aug. 11 there will be a speaker from Coyote Point and hopefully some animals to pet.

Backseat Driver Panel Members Appointed

Six local residents have been appointed to the Department of Motor Vehicles "Backseat Driver" Public Panel in the Daly City office, Manager L. T. Buchanan, Jr., has announced.

The Daly City office serves the communities of Daly City, Pacifica, South San Francisco, Colma, Brisbane, San Bruno, and parts of San Francisco.

The newly appointed members are V. C. Chasten, Daly City; Dorothy Carr, San Francisco; the Rev. Gordon D. Wiebe, Daly City; Richard R. Kay, San Francisco; Reva Krips, Daly City; and Helen M. Cook, Daly City.

The public panel will meet Monthly in July to assist the state department in its service, safety, and consumer-protection responsibilities.

Formation of the Backseat Driver Public Panel is part of a statewide program announced last month by DMV Director Herman Sillas to involve the public in government "by providing a forum through which local residents can convey their community's concerns to the department."

The citizen group will provide input into departmental policies and programs at both the local and state levels.

While the panelists will receive no remuneration for their services.

'Stride' Pianist To Play

"Stride" pianist Mike Lipskin will perform at Periwinkle Art Gallery, 1227 Danmann, Pedro Point, Pacifica at 8 p.m. July 31. A recognized archivist and authority on this jazz idiom, Lipskin can play it like he talks it.

As a protege of Willie "The Lion" Smith, Mike Lipskin learned Harlem stride piano as a child from its creators — Charles Luckey Roberts, Eubie Blake, Donald Lambert and Cliff Jackson.

For several years Lipskin has worked as executive producer for RCA Records. He was involved in the reissue of sixty Vintage Series packages devoted to jazz, Folk and personality sounds.

In addition to his work with RCA, Lipskin gives many concerts. He played with Eubie Blake in Carnegie Hall in 1975.

Harlem stride piano, brought to its height by James P. Johnson and Fats Waller, is in the roots of Duke Ellington, George Gershwin and Count Basie. It's piano that moves.

A donation of $3 for adults, $2 for students and senior citizens and $1 for children under 12 is requested.

Music at the Gallery is co-sponsored by Periwinkle Gallery and the Sheldon Smith Piano Service.

Entertainment Set By City for Fair

The Daly City Recreation Department will provide a portion of the entertainment for "Daly City Day" at the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta July 29.

Performances will feature the Daly City Crickets at 1 p.m.; Fountain Plaza, the Junior and Senior Civic Ballet at 2 p.m.; Fiesta Bowl, and the Daly City Dazzlers Junior and Senior Baton Corps in the drill area at 3:30 p.m.

Each performance includes students who are currently participating in the summer recreation program "Leisure Revolution."

New Members Sought By Diet Workshop

Backyard barbecue delights — tall, frosty drinks and frozen desserts among them — are within the dieter's domain, according to Mary Gamba, instructor for the Diet Workshop classes currently meeting each Monday at the Daly City Mental Health Center, 45 Southgate Ave., 7:30 p.m. According to Ms. Gamba, "Summer eating lends itself nicely to diet eating . . . barbecues out of doors are marvelous ways to broil diet meats, chicken and fish.

Visitors are welcome at Diet Workshop sessions.

Bicentennial Fiesta Doors Swing Open

READY FOR FAIR OPENING

By LIN DAY

The "Star Spangled Fiesta," the 42nd Annual San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta opened its gates Monday at the fairgrounds in San Mateo, with the largest attendance in history expected during its 13-day run.

This year's Fair, undoubtedly the county's single largest observance of America's 200th birthday, is dedicated to the nation's bicentennial, with red, white and blue the dominant fair colors and an air of celebration evident in booths and decorations as well as events.

The Hall of Flowers, always the central attraction of the Fair, has bigger waterfalls and more generous displays than ever. This year, there will be a Golden Gate Bridge and a Statue of Liberty overlooking the floral landscapes.

The Community Building, which last year devoted a corner to the beginnings of the bicentennial observance, this time is rich in colonial and historical atmosphere, which stretches through the entire hall, ranging from the Constitution in full sail near the entrance to a realistic and colorful exhibit of San Mateo firefighting equipment of a century ago.

Colonial dames will move about as will uniformed marines stationed in the old Tun Tavern, birthplace of the U.S. Marine Corps. They will wear the uniforms of early days.

From the opening ceremonies, which included Minute Men in Revolutionary costume, through a myriad schedule of events, there will be special features, parades, drills, ceremonies and costumes that recall the greatness of America's past.

Many booths will have special decorations for the occasion.

While the Fair presents the national birthday theme in many ways, it also has made many innovations and improvements. Meanwhile, it will continue to present the carnival atmosphere for strolling residents with its food features, extensive gardens and various artistic, craft and cultural exhibits.

One innovation will be special musical attractions presented in the Hall of Flowers.

Showtime will be more varied with the acts changing three times during the course of the Fair.

Headliners include Joanie Sommers, who will appear July 27 through Aug. 1 along with Bobby Sargent and the De Rieux Family; the Homestead Act, along with Capitol Express — Style of Manhattan Transfer and Goldfinger and Dove. Aug. 3 through Aug. 7; and the final two days, Ken Delo and Sandi Griffiths of the Lawrence Welk Show.

Ray Hackett's Orchestra will play throughout. Opening night will feature the coronation of the 1976 Dream Girl and court attendance. Bugs Bunny from Marriott's Great America; the Royal Marionettes, the Early American Circus, Mismatch the Mime, Julie Bellefleur the Juggler, ounted Police with flags, and Time the Clown.

As ceremonies begin outside the gate at 6 p.m. a helicopter will join the scene, and balloons will brighten the scene, near the West Gate.

As the entertainment moves to the great stage, Star Spangled Showtime '76 will open, with American Originals — a presentation of the City of San Mateo's recent successful "Festival '76" with selected acts repeated for fairgoers.

Also participating will be the San Mateo Performing Arts Center.

Throughout the fair's duration, there will be daily racing at the adjacent Bay Meadows Racetrack, with post time at 12:45 p.m. The race events begin Mondays. There will be no Sunday races.

A number of special features will be offered daily in various parts of the fairgrounds.

The features include a Timo The Clown kiddie show daily at 1 p.m. and 6 p.m. in the mall area, the Peninsula Model Railroad in the Community Building, daily organ concerts with Marian Speaker at the Wurlitzer, in the Hall of Flowers, daily entertainment by wandering juggler Julie Bellefleur, daily entertainment at various locations by the Johnny Vaughn Trio, Savage K-9 Crops demonstrations in the drill area.

Also, at 2:30 and 7 p.m. daily in the Garden Center Theater a show called "Between Sail and Satellite," sponsored by the county's American Revolution Bicentennial Committee.

There will be daily concerts by Hackett's Orchestra at 4 p.m. at the Fountain Plaza, circus performances at 3:30 p.m. and 6:45 p.m., with changed times Saturday and Sunday; marionettes near the mall area at 2:30, 4:30 and 7:30 p.m., and showings of the "Birth of The Nation" at 4:30, 5:30, and 6:30 p.m.

At 7:45 p.m. there will be Heritage Square Dancing by the District 10 Square Dancing Clubs.

Showtimes will be at 8:45 p.m. daily.

This year's Fair will offer about 135 commercial exhibit booths, and 15 community exhibits plus the big Heritage Fair. There are colorful amateur and professional gardens on a scale as large as ever, with the outside gardens offering historical as well as multicultural settings, including early Spanish and Japanese.

The agricultural shows will be as busy as ever, and there are extensive craft and home arts showings, along with exhibitions of prize-winning offerings.

Retiring board members are Dorothy Krause, a founding member; Matha Henry, first president of 4C; and Marjorie Wheeler, long active in Early Childhood Education.

Slide Show Stresses Newspapers' Abilities as Advertising Medium

SLIDE SHOW

"Newspapers — Master Motivators" was the new California Newspaper Publishers Association slide presentation viewed by 30 marketing and advertising executives from Bay Area stores and shopping centers last week at The Times. Shown here observing new dual projection equipment operate are: (left to right) Harold Schlotthauer, general manager, The Times; Wayne Wash, promotion manager; Joe Gordon, advertising manager, J. C. Penney Co.; Bob Meyers, store manager, Sears Hillsdale; and Dick Pace, sales promotion manager, Breuner's.

Thirty marketing and advertising executives from major Bay Area stores and shopping centers were at the San Mateo Times plant July 22 to view the new slide presentation, "Newspapers — Master Motivators."

The half-hour slide presentation, developed by California Newspaper Publishers Association's Newspaper First Committee to combat the growing erosion of retail ad dollars to television, was introduced by Robert Huttenhoff, publisher of the Salinas Californian.

Huttenhoff is vice chairman of the CNPA Newspapers First Committee. Monte Dayton, ad director of the San Mateo Times, is chairman of the northern Newspaper's First Target Account Committee which put on the program.

The presentation was described by Huttenhoff as a hard-hitting, effective documentation of the print media's superiority over television.

The Northern California version of the presentation includes testimonials (slide and narration) from the following prominent Bay Area retailer representatives: Chuck West, Mervyn's; Robert Brant, Montgomery Ward; Ed Perea, Sears; Ernest Bouskos, Continental Markets; Don Eaton, Payless; and Ben Fauber, S. S. Kresge Co.

The Newspaper's First Target Account Sub-committee will be taking the presentation out on the road in coming months to show to all interested retailers, groups and associations.

In addition to Dayton, members of the northern target account committee include: John Temple-Raston, Newspaper Advertising Bureau; Jim Thorburn, Peninsula Newspapers Inc.; Chuck Zegelbone, San Rafael Independent-Journal; Wayne Wash, San Mateo Times; and James Sontag, Santa Rosa Press-Democrat.

Huttenhoff points out, however, that in addition to the target account committee, individual newspapers will be encouraged to conduct showings of "Master Motivators" to their own local retailers, ad managers and shopping centers.

SSF Man Honored By Utility Firm

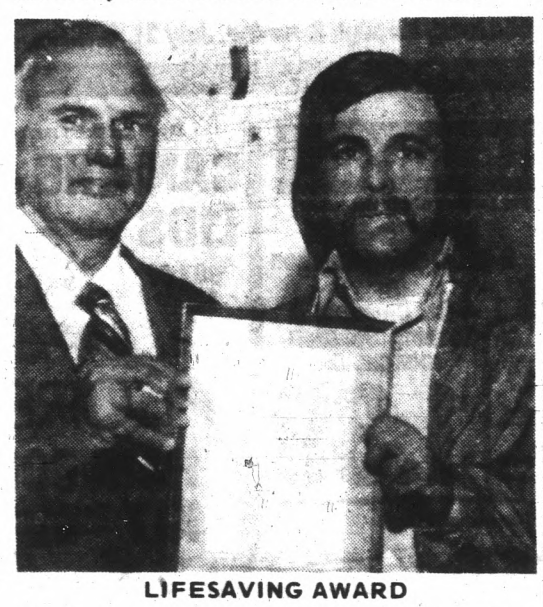
An area employe of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. has been awarded the John A. Britton Citation for knowledge and use of first aid in separate lifesaving incidents.

William Matthews, a senior meterman who lives in South San Francisco, was presented the award by Thomas V. Adams, manager of personnel relations.

Matthews was in the parking lot of a San Francisco store last December when he noticed that a man had collapsed. Another man was unsuccessfully attempting to revive the victim.

Matthews immediately took over mouth-to-mouth resuscitation while an ambulance was summoned. Soon the man's pulse returned, but it again ceased. Working with the other man, Matthews alternated between resuscitation and external cardiac compression until the ambulance arrived.

By this time, the victim had regained his vital signs and shortly was able to leave the scene on his own.



LIFESAVING AWARD

Conservatory Plans Children's Classes

Peninsula Conservatory of Music, Burlingame, is forming children's music classes for violin, piano, organ, guitar, percussion instruments, and ballet.

Classes are kept small so that children will receive as much individual attention as possible, a spokesman for the Conservatory said.

Registration for these groups will begin Aug. 16, and classes will start Sept. 1.

Eurhythmics, a preparatory class for chidren 4 to 6, introduces children to music through body movement, emphasizing tempo and rhythm.

Music Appreciation is a creative approach to the study of music through action songs and musical games. The use of rhythm instruments helps develop coordination and an introduction to the keyboard stimulates curiosity to further develol musical awareness through notation, pitch, and ear-training.

For further information, call or write to Peninsula Conservatory of Muisc, 731 El Camino Real, Burlingame.

Conclave Slated at SM Site

San Mateo has been chosen as the site for next year's convention of the California Garden Clubs, Inc.

The Bay Ocean District will hostess the April 25 through 27 event at the Royal Coach Motor Hotel. More than 1,000 delegates from throughout California are expected to attend and an additional 200 from eight other Western states are expected for the Pacific Regional Conference slated April 28 and 29.

In anticipation of the event, a meeting was conducted Friday at convention headquarters to view the facilities and review preliminary plans. On hand for the session were state president Mrs. Eugene Woesner and first vice president Mrs. Robert E. Busher of Hillsborough and Mrs. Leon Chasson, convention chairman, and Mrs. Jim Beach of Foster City, district director. Still others present included the following committee chairmen: Mesdames Ira W. Thornton Jr., convention treasurer; Walter Shoaff Jr., hospitality; and Gerald C. Johnson, horticulture, all of Hillsborough.

Highlights of the convetnntion will include dedication of the California Garden Clubs Conservation Education Grove in Big Basin Redwoods State Park by Mrs. Vernon L. Conner, national president. The conclave also will feature tours of outstanding Hillsborough gardens, and presentations by experts in the fields of conservation, horticulture, arranging and flowers.

AEROSPACE

Zainal Sahukhan, son of Dr. A. H. Sahukhan of 845 Banbury Lane, Millbrae, has joined the Aerospace team as a professional member of the U.S. Air Force.

He is presently in the Delayed Enlistment Program awaiting orders to report for transitional training at San Antonio, Texas.

El Camino High School, a neat, fine-looking campus in South San Francisco, ie one of those seemingly ageless facilities: It appears today to be as new as when it was built 16 years ago.

The school's standard of discipline is high; so is its achievement, and Principal Bob Keropian smiles broadly whenever he talks about El Camino's academic, baseball and drama/music accomplishments.

But Keropian also frowns deeply as he warns Peninsulans that their relatively safe school campuses soon are going to be as crime-riddled and terrorized as any of those other Bay Area schools we frequently hear about — the knifings, extortion, beatings, rape . . .

(Extortion is becoming widespread on some area elementary, intermediate/junior high and senior high school campuses.)

Keropian firmly believes that such an undesirable environment is on its way because, he says, court and probation authorities will not act to punish effectively the handfuls of young criminals already causing trouble at the area's schools.

CRITICAL OF what he considers to be "bleeding heart" and "permissive" judges and probation officers, Keropian does not agree that probation for the youthful offender is punishment in itself.

Keropian says he is still steaming about a community meeting on juvenile justice held last year at El Camino. Out of that, he recalls came the notion that the county's judges consider probation to be punishment and that probation officers consider rehabilitation, not punishments, as their role.

Keropian, a former probation officer whose area included one of San Francisco's toughest neighborhoods, believes that young people who assault teachers, principals and fellow students, commit heavy vandalism and other significant campus crimes ought to see the inside of a jail — for several hours, if not for days.

He says such treatment would teach the youngsters a lesson that would tend to steer them toward a straighter road. Releasing them and having them "beat the cop back to town" isn't rehabilitating them, Keropian says.

When school officials and the police agree after an incident that a youth is dangerous not only to his classmates, but to himself as well he is sent to juvenile hall, the stern principal points out.

By this time, at least eight individuals, including the police, have reviewed the case at the campus level, but a single probation officer overrules them all and releases the offender, he charges.

"The probation officer doesn't even phone us to ask our opinion," Keropian chides in disgust.

And, so, he continues, the offender returns to campus, possibly to start his act of terror all over again.

In fact, Keropian claims that local police officers have told him privately that "it's not worth their time" to haul a juvenile offender to the Hillcrest center.

"I'm questioning the entire philosophy of our juvenile justice system here," Keropian says.

He says he doesn't believe putting the responsibility back on the parents' shoulders is the answer at all.

The chances are, he continues, that they got into trouble in the first place because of family problems.

THE PROBATION officer blames the judge, who blames it on the State Legislature, Keropian says.

"Bull! It's not the legislature. It's the judges," Keropian charges. He says the "rules are the same," established by the legislature, but, "not every county handles juveniles the same way. It varies from hard-line to 'bleeding heart.' "

He adds, "I'm tired of judges giving the criminal element all the breaks."

Keropian charges that judges are being responsive first to the criminal and only secondly to society.

"Law-abiding citizens get burned," Keropian charges.

Keropian says probation authorities urge the schools to do the punishment. He believes that to be unrealistic, since he can suspend a student for only five days.

A school board, he admits, can "exclude" a student from attending a district school, but Keropian says that the excluded student merely winds up at a school in a nearby district — "using an aunt's address."

All that does, he chides, is put the problem on some other school principal's back.

Frankly, he says he'd just as soon the young thugs were shipped to the moon on the next space-freight up.

Even better than that, he reconsiders, "If they spent a weekend at Alcatraz, they'd be rehabilitated."

HE DOESN'T APOLOGIZE for that hard line: "I don't care about them. But, I am concerned about the safety of the other (about 90 per cent) kids at my school."

"We have to protect our teachers and we must protect the other kids," he says. "The only way we can do that is to get rid of the small percentage of kids creating the problem."

Keropian acknowledges "we have a great deal going here," which he says is the whole point of his fears and vocal outburst:

"We want to keep it that way."

Griffith Classic Scheduled

D. W. Griffith's Civil War epic "Birth of a Nation" will be shown in a complete, rare tinted version Aug. 1 at 7 p.m. This will be the fourth in a series of eleven "Movies at the Gallery" shown at Periwinkle Art Gallery, Pedro Point, Pacifica.

Bob Vaughn, movie organist from the Avenue Theatre, San Francisco, will accompany the film on the nine-foot Chickering at the gallery. Vaughn has beenplaying for silent films most of his 70 years. The piano is furnished by the Sheldon Smith Piano Service.

"Birth of a Nation" was made in 1915 and is the most important single film in the evolution of the screen, although not necessarily the greatest.

Most important, it is the film which overnight won worldwide respect for the motion picture medium and raised it from a mere novelty entertainment to the status of an art.

A donation of $2 for adults is requested. For further information call the gallery between 12 and 6 p.m.

Planners Put Off Decision On Sharp Park Subdivision

By RICK SULLIVAN

Hopeful developers of a 70-acre parcel in the western hills of San Bruno will have to wait at least another week for a decision to be made on the project.

The Planning Commission Monday night postponed action on a subdivision map and a grading permit until Aug. 2, pending a review by the planning staff of concerns expressed by opponents of the project and by the developer himself.

Specifically, the commission wants to know if it can compel the developer to install a traffic signal at the access to the subdivision. It also wants legal and economic details concerning land which the developer wants to deed to the city for a park and landscaping.

The Western American Land Corp. has submitted plans to subdivide some 23 acres on the north side of Sharp Park Road near Skyline Boulevard into housing lots of approximately 6,000 square feet each.

Plans call for extensive cut-and-fill grading to terrace the land to allow for the building of 70 homes.

A project environmental impact report notes that the Sea Cliff project would bring about 281 more residents into the city.

Opponents of the development, led by Kathie and Terry Stats, who reside in the neighboring subdivision of Pacific Heights, argued that a less dense development should be considered "to protect one of the last remaining open space resources in the city."

Mrs. Stats called on the commission to consider rezoning the acreage from its present R-1 zone to residential estates zone to allow one home per two acres.

She said she argued for some 119 San Brunans that the proposed project would entail "massive grading that will permanently change the terrain" and cause erosion and siltation into nearby Milagra Creek.

Mrs. Stats also "questioned the wisdom of the developer" for cutting and filling so close to a known earthquake fault. The San Andreas Fault runs just a quarter of a mile east of the proposed development.

She further argued that the project would destroy much of the vegetation and wildlife that "thrive on the chaparral area."

Mrs. Yvonne Tyler, a 14-year resident of Pacific Heights, made an emotional appeal to the commission to assure that new subdivision residents, especially children, would be provided with a safe crossing from the development to the other side of Sharp Park Road. She did not recommend a specific traffic control measure, but Mrs. Stats urged the commission to request that a traffic signal be placed at the corner of Sharp Park Road and the access road to the development.

Mrs. Stats pointed out that the new housing tract would generate traffic onto an already heavily traveled Sharp Park Road, and noted that two more residential developments are scheduled near the road in Pacifica, causing additional traffic problems.

"The number of accidents on Sharp Park Road will increase in direct proportion to the increase in traffic," Mrs. Stats said. "Many people feel the road is dangerous already."

Charles Keenan, representing the development company, told the commission that a traffic consultant had advised that the tract would not produce enough extra traffic to warrant a traffic signal. Instead, he said, a crosswalk on Sharp Park Road was suggested.

City Planning and Building Director William Kelly said he and the city engineer had discussed the traffic problem and had decided that there was not enough data now to justify the expense of signal.

It has been estimated that a signal would cost between $60,000 and $70,000 to install.

Most commissioners agreed that the subdivision might cause a pedestrian crossing problem on the four-lane roadway in the future. But, they also said they believe that the full cost of signalization should not be borne only by the Sea Cliff developers. Other future developments near the road, they concurred, might also add to the traffic congestion.

Commissioner Girvin Whitney suggested that Western American Land be asked to pay a pro rata share of the coast of a signal, when it is decided a signal is necessary.

Keenan agreed with the suggestion.

The commission asked the staff to study traffic control measures on Sharp Park Road, including the effectiveness of a overhead pedestrian crossing.

The staff also was asked to report on the legal and economic details of land the developer wants to deed to the city.

Keenan said the company wants to give San Bruno a 5,000 square foot lot to be located within the subdivision and also a stretch of land along Sharp Park Road to be used for landscaping.

The commission wants to know what kind of landscaping will be planted in both areas and how much it will cost the city to maintain those areas.

In another matter Monday, the commission denied a use permit to the city to allow it to build a new water pump station at 590 Cedar Ave.

By a 5-1 vote, Chairwoman Loretta Currie dissenting, the commission agreed that the city had not gauged sufficiently the impact the station would have on Cedar Avenue residents, and did not explore fully alternative sites.

The city wants to remove what it claims is an obsolete pump station on Maple Avenue and to build a new more efficient station on a small parcel of land it owns on Cedar.

Woodside '61 Reunion Set

A 15th-year reunion by the Class of 1961 of Woodside High School will be held Oct. 2 at the Palo Alto Hills Country Club. Dave Drotar of 104 Charter Oaks Circle, Los Gatos and Dave Nelson of San Mateo are coordinating.

A Simple, Olympian Solution

A ROUND OF MISCELLANY:

There is a simple solution to all of the problems with the Olympic Games, and it is herewith offered once and once only: don't tell anybody what countries the athletes are from.

If people can guess by their names, or by the language they speak if they happen to hear them talk, fine. But otherwise let all the athletes compete as individuals. Let them all march into the area on opening day in white togas, as the Greeks did in the Originals.

Let them live together by either allowing them to choose who they wish to bunk with, or by drawing lots. Mix 'em, match 'em, get all the international criminals and politicians (if you can tell THEM apart) so damned confused that they'll eventually sit back and enjoy the competition.

* * *

A LOT OF CRITICS are saying that Cincinnati doesn't have enough pitching (what is ENOUGH pitching?), but when a team averages 5.64 runs per game, as the Reds are currently doing, they don't need as much pitching as most teams. Only Philadelphia, with 5.6 a game, is close to the Reds.

Third best run scoring machine in the NL, as this is written, is, believe it or not, Atlanta, at 4.04.

* * *

WALKS HAVE ALWAYS BEEN a neglected statistic in determing a hitter's value, yet good hitters usually draw a lot of free passes. Still, a combined total of hits and walks is never offered the public in final season's statistics.

One of the standards for good hitting, aside from the .300 batting average, is 200 hits in a season. If a batter walks 100 times in a season, that is considered a high plateau.

Yet, there have been many 200 hit and 100 walks seasons. For example, batters have had 200 or more hits more than 250 times. But a total of 300 combined hits and walks has happened only 62 times in baseball history.

This feat was accomplished 18 times by just two men — Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig — who each did it nine times. Ruth holds the single season combined record of 375. In 1923 he collected 205 hits and 170 walks.

Ted Williams, who did it seven times, holds the record for being the toughest hitter to get out in one season. In 1941 he had 185 hits and 145 walks, which worked out to an on-base percentage of 55.0. He also went over the 50 percent mark in both 1954 and 1957.

Three others besides Williams went over the 50 percent mark — Ruth, who did it four times. Rogers Hornsby and Mickey Mantle each did it once.

The only players of recent vintage to have accomplished the combined 300 season are Norm Cash ('61), Carl Yasjrzemski ('70) and Pete Rose ('69).

BASEBALL TRIVIA CORNER:

Everybody knows that Jackie Robinson was the first Negro to play in the big leagues, but what is rarely mentioned is that at virtually the same time Branch Rickey signed Robinson to a Dodger contract, he also signed another black player.

He was a pitcher named John Wright, who had been playing in the Negro league for the Newark Eagles. Rickey farmed him out to Montreal, but Wright just never had the ability, apparently, to get to the bigs.

Though the current one-handed catching style for receivers — a ploy designed to cut down on their hand injuries — is generally thought to have come into vogue only in the last five years or so, it was actually Yankee Hall of Famer Bill Dickey who began experimenting with the technique in the '30s.

(Joe Sprinz, the old St. Louis Cardinal and Seals catcher, claims that there were fewer "fingers" with the old style for catchers who did it properly— holding their bare hands BEHIND the big glove, and not making a fist with them but holding them open. Sprinz claims that when the hand was hit while it was in the "fist" position, there was no "give," and that this caused fractures. Whereas if the hand "give," and that this caused fractures. Whereas if the hand were held open when it was hit, the fingers would more likely "only" be split. Painful, says Joe, but one could spit tobacco juice in a split and live with it.)

AH, TIME IS FICKLE, or something like that. In 1974, George Vass, writing for Baseball Digest, took a poll of major league managers to determine baseball's best outfield. The Giants won, with Gary Matthews in left, Garry Maddox in center and Bobby Bonds in right. Please note that two-thirds of that "great" outfield a/e no longer with us.

Close runners-up to the Giants were the outfields of Oakland and Baltimore. At that time the Oakland outfield consisted of Joe Rudi in left, Billy North in center, Reggie Jackson in right. (Please note that one-third of that one is also gone.)

Sports And Recreation

Le Pacini

Baltimore's wonderous outer garden was made up of Al Bumby in left, Paul Blair in center, Rich Coggins in right. (Please note that while Coggins — who hasn't played regularly now for the three teams he's since been traded to — is the only one gone, Bumbry is now just as often a designated hitter as he is an outfielder, and that Blair is often benched for weak hitting.)

If Spec Richardson, who seems to be acting as a sort of receiver for the National League, makes you nervous, he should. One could almost make up an all-star team of the Houston players he traded away for virtually nothing in return. They include: Jack Billingham, John Mayberry, Joe Morgan, Dave Guisti, Rusty Staub, Jimmy Wynn and Cesar Geronimo.

Our usually impeachable source says that Chris Speier is going to be asked to switch to second base next year to make way for Denny Lemaster.

SUDDEN THOUGHTS:

THE FANS ARE FEELING SORRY for Bob Lurie this year (and rightfully so), so things are still relatively rosey. But if the Giants lose much beyond 1976, it won't take the fans long to start feeling sorry for themselves, and then Lurie had better be prepared to defend the baetions.

It's hard to understand why pitchers don't like Candlestick's cold. They have an advantage over hitters because, a) it's easier for them to keep warm than it is for most of the hitters (afterall, they're moving on every pitch, whereas infielders and outfielders have to stand around and try to endure the weather), and 2) if you've never been "fisted" by a fast ball in cold weather, it's like taking on a horde of bees bare-handed.

One of baseball's little penalties that all hitters want to avoid. It's a definite psychological advantage for the pitcher.

It seems to this writer that the Giants' hitters do Jim Barr a favor when they don't give him much support. On the couple of occasions when they have given him substantial early leads, he's been blasted. But he pitches well in the close ones.

Will somebody write and explain how a Manager of the Year in 1975 can be fired like an incompetent in 1976. Don't send the letter here. Mail it to Darrell Johnson, care of the Red Sox.

Two Unseat Coach in DC Contest

Leisure Revolution — Summer '76 sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department has hit the midway mark. Playgrounds and special interest programs are in full swing.

All city-operated playgrounds will be open Monday through Friday and will close at noon Aug. 20.

Monday started off with a "beat the coach" tournament at Franklin D. Roosevelt School. Only two managed to knock coach David Ewaldt off — Tony Lewis and Reggi Wilson. Romeo Cordour nearly turned the trick, losing only in overtime.

Tuesday the group took a trip to Cull Canyon. Other activities included a gymnastic contest, with Brenda Riser, Marlo Williams and Ella Washington all tying for first.

Winners in the Carroms tournament included Sean Williams and Joel Lipkins. The week finished with cartoons and a huge kickball game. Next week promises more fun as "Anything Goes."

Last Friday Gellert Park held a tournament featuring shuffleboard, horse shoes and one-on-one basketball.

In the shuffleboard, Ronnie Smith took the 10-and-over age group with Phil Matusuch coming in second and Billy Smith taking a third. In the 10-and-under age group, Mike Fischer took a first followed by Tom Fischer and Mike Smith.

Girls also took part in the shuffleboard with Sherra Bazermore coming in first, Kim Smith taking a second and Shary Cato coming in third.

Horseshoes proved to be the closest event with Kevin Cato making a big comeback to take a first, he was followed by Ronnie Smith and Frank Molles.

Basketball was dominated in the 10-and-under group by Mike Fischer with Rich Matosuch coming in second and Tim Fischer taking a third.

The 10-and-over age group featured a two-man battle for first between Phil Matosuch and Kevin Cato with Phil taking a first and Kevin coming in second while third went to Steve Matosuch.

Player of the Week was a tie between Ronnie Smith who proved himself unbeatable in the shuffleboard and Kevin Cato, newcomer to the area who took the horseshoe event and placed secon in basketball.

Basketball is one of the most popular sports at Lincoln Park. A one-on-one contest was held with the following participants.

Division I High School — Clarence Benjamin, Ryan Scott, Lawrence Stringer, Darryle Jones, Ahomond Joy, Ron Law. Winners: First place Clarence Benjamin, Second place Ahmond Joy.

Division II Jr. High School — Hector Lopez, Frankie Lopez, Cesar Lopes, Wendell Taylor, Bennie Pace. Winners: First place, Bennie Pace, Second place Wendell Taylor.

Both Clarence and Bennie are challenging all comers.

Carrom leaders for the week were Roger Zapata and Billy Moyle at Northridge Park. Spud was played last week faturing Latrice Wash., Kathy Moyle, Raymond Moyle, Jerry Lewis, Mari and Patty Pender and Norman and Sal Navarro.

Whiffleball kings were Sal Narro and Roger Zapata who defeated Billy Moyle and Phil Franco 16-14. Roger tripled in two runs in the last inning then Sal hit the winning home run.

Carol Toothaker, Mari Pender, Patty Pender, Kathy Moyle, Latrice Nash, Tania and Althea Tully also played checkers, carroms and whiffle ball.

There was a giant obstacle race set up with Billy Moyle turning in the fastest time for upper division with a 58.1 time. Roger Zapata turning in a fast 58.9 for lower division.

Other fast times were Robert Zapata 1.01.9, Jerry Lewis 1.00.4, Mari Pender 59.9, Patty Pender 1.04.4, Norman Navarro 1.02.4, Ray Moyle 1.01.1.

The "butterfingers" of the week award went to Anthony Valoria for his fielding in baseball.

Two special events highlighted Talent Fiesta Week at Our Lady of Mercy Summer Playground. The Junior Teens held a masquerade dance-party. Those participating were: Marianne Boerio, Ted Curry, Dan Diggins, Renee Garry, Jim McCann, Kelly McDonald, Shauna Mertens, John Naggy, and Terri Small.

OLM also held a bike ride with participants including: Terri Small, Monica Barradas, Kathy Barradas, and Mrs. Barradas all of whom bicycled around Lake Merced and back to OLM.

Excitement and fun continue at Serramonte High School as the group en s the fourth week of the summer with "Pistol Pete" Martin defending his title in the weekly ping-pong carroms tournament by taking two first-place ribbons in the 14-and-over division.

Other participants in this division were: Ron Spinetti, placing 2nd and Bob Gradwohl placing third in ping-pong, along with a second place ribbon for Robert Caliz in carroms, with such competeitors as Steve Beverly, Dave Buelna, Bob Martin, Dave Verbe, Pam Scheffler, Steve Daly and everone's favorite Willie McNeil, whose first time in the tournment gave him a third place in carroms.

In the 12-13-year division, Tom Daly took a first place in Carroms and and a third place in ping-pong, while Cesar Caliz took a first place in ping-pong and a second in ping-pong.

John Kelly and Tish Ciolini were also participants in this division. In the youngest division (11 years-and-under) Nick Ciolini took a first and second place in ping-pong and carroms, with Patti Scheffler, John Mignosa, Martin Galindez and Brett Kelly giving stiff competition.

This week's barbeque had hot dogs and hamburgers sizzling on the grill with a taste McDonald couldn't touch. Badminton has been added to the gym's activities with Steve Beverly being the top player and the one to beat.

This week's trip was to Cull Canyon for fun in the sun.

At Skyline School things are starting to happen. With Dennis Murphy taking verbal publicity and head skate board rider, everything looks roses. The LaMar brothers, Eric and Mike, are expected to return today from a basketball tour around Lake Tahoe area. Slugger Mike Candau who dominates the strikeout boards continues his winning streak.

The Skyline "Niners" high school softball team will open their season this week on Monday, playing at Colma Intermediate at 6:15 p.m.

Summer Softball League

The Parks, Beaches and Recreation Department in Pacifica will be conducting a late Summer Softball League. The league will get underway August 9.

Games will be played at Sharp Park School and Fairmont West Park. Pacifica teams will be given first preference in the league.

Non-resident teams that played last league will be given second preference. Third priorities will go to the new non-resident teams.

The league will have the following divisions: "A," "B," "C," and "CC." Deadline for signing up a ball club will be Aug. 4. For further information about the league, call Dave Barry, Recreation Supervisor.

The Sports Association of Northern California Recreation Agencies and Parks, Beaches and Recreation Department of Pacifica will co-sponsor a single elimination Class "D" Softball Tournament Aug. 6-7. Games will be played at Fairmont West Park and Sharp Park School. Deadline for the tournament entries will be noon, July 28.

Tournament entries must be turned in to Dave Barry.

The Parks, Beaches and Recreation Department will be conducting a trip to see the San Francisco Giants in action against the Cincinnati Reds. Games will be played Aug. 4.

South S.F. Marina Eyes Harbor District Aid

South San Francisco's $6 million marina project apparently will receive a financial boost from the San Mateo County Harbor Commission.

The commission's vote to provide some assistance to the North County City's marina plan appeared to be a complete reversal of the harbor district's earlier stand.

Acting City Manager Frank Addiego said the harbor district commissioners and staff have indicated they are willing to provide the city with some money for the marina expansion and redevelopment project that began this year.

The assistance, he said, probably will be in the form of a grant. A loan to South San Francisco was not discussed, he said. A specific amount has not been discussed.

"My understanding is that they are considering an outright grant," Addiego said.

City councilmen indicated considerable surprise when they learned of the harbor district's change of heart.

In 1973, the harbor district provided South San Francisco with $25,000 for its $65,000 study of the feasibility if expanding the city's Oyster Point marina.

In 1974, the city, at the suggestion of then harbor district general manager William Kerrigan, requested an additional $100,000 for marina construction.

After months of negotiations, the harbor district attorney said it would be questionable, legally, for that agency to participate in construction of a marina in South San Francisco.

The Harbor District, attorney James Dennis said at that time, has no power to make gifts or grants of public funds.

However, in the same letter, Dennis said the harbor district and the city could establish a "joint powers agreement."

The city already had gone out to bid on repairing parking lot surfaces at the marina, believing the harbor district would assist.

After Dennis' opinion was issued, the harbor district decided against assisting South San Francisco.

Last Wednesday, however, the commissioners agreed to establish a joint powers agreement with South San Francisco.

As a result, according to Parks and Recreation Director Dick Milkovich, meetings will be held between the city and the district to determine what financial assistance may be available.

"It's an about face," Addiego aid. "There's no doubt about it."

Some councilmen questioned if the harbor district's change of heart was a result of a move by many San Mateo County cities to dissolve the Harbor District.

Led by the City of Atherton, inland cities have been protesting construction of Pillar Point Harbor in the El Granada area. They say the $5 million project will benefit only those who live on the coast and who own large sailing boats.

South San Francisco City Council was requested by Atherton in May to join the move to dissolve the district.

However, the council deferred action. Mayor Leo Padreddii said then that he preferred to see what stand other cities were taking before committing South San Francisco.

Apparently, South San Francisco's new negotiations with the harbor district already were taking place when the dissolution question came before the council.

Harbor District General Manager Ron McClellan said the commission's change of heart is neither a result of dissolution plans nor an effort to gain support from the cities.

He said that before cities began the dissolution effort, the harbor district was looking at ways to help the individual cities with their harbor needs.

"The district hired me and specifically instructed me to look at ways to do a countywide plan," McClellan said.

New management of the district, he added, has resulted in a new posture.

The district has set aside $150,000 for countywide boating facilities in its budget, McClellan said. South San Francisco's share would come from that fund.

He said the district already is working with Foster City to develop the marina there.

"There never has been a long-range plan for other cities," McClellan said, "but that plan is being written now and should be ready in a few weeks."

Car Ownership Made Horrible

By JOHN HORGAN
Staff Writer

Car clouts — thefts of materials from your automobile — are a distressing way of life on the Peninsula.

Police blotters throughout San Mateo County are daily overflowing with reports of such incidents.

Stolen cars are common too. The auto is a favorite target for the thief. It is suburbia's greatest blessing and curse at the same time, a schizoid possession at best.

Some folks are firmly wedded to their cars, so much so that they have taken on all the aspects of an obsession.

I have a longtime acquaintance, a real estate salesman, who owns three cars. None of them is typical. All are at least slightly out of the ordinary.

He has a Triumph, a Cadillac sedan and a sleek, low-slung Jaguar V-12.

He has more raw horsepower in his cigarette lighters than I have in my VW engine.

But, he has his share of trouble with thieves and vandals too. He frets about burglars. He has installed an alarm system on his Jaguar to scare off would-be crooks.

He keeps his cars in mint condition. He worries about the appearance of his fleet.

And I have to believe that the mere sight of such magnificent vehicles is a temptation for the evil-minded among us.

And there is the key to avoiding the risk of thievery: don't buy a handsome, expensive auto and whatever you do, don't spruce up your heap once you've got it.

I call it the Zen approach to car care.

You don't dote on your car, you let it go. You just allow it to passively exist.

Wash your car? Why bother. The better it looks the more someone out there will want to filch it.

Take off those gaudy hubcaps. Bend your radio antenna in advance.

And what about dents and dings? Retain them. Cherish them. Let them accumulate into a mosaic.

Incorporate these unique bumps and bruises into your collected dirt and grime.

When your car begins to resemble a refugee from a destruction derby, you are starting to become immune to burglars.

Who wants to break into a turkey that has "Clean me, I'm filthy" scrawled in its dust?

Why would a thief trouble himself to steal a ragged, crummy bomb that looks half-decayed? He wouldn't. That's the point.

I've tried to get that across to my friend, the salesman. But he won't listen.

My own car has a certain cruddy charisma. It hasn't been bathed this year. It hasn't been tampered with yet either.

Only a Zen owner could love it.

Now if I can just borrow someone's spare maybe I can get out of my driveway this week.

Former College Aide

Trial Set in Bribery Case

After nearly three years, Matteo V. Fasanaro is scheduled to stand trial on a charge of accepting a bribe to influence the awarding of a $500,000 contract by the San Mateo Community College District Board of Trustees.

Trial is scheduled for Aug. 16, some 33 months after Fasanaro and four others were indicted by the San Mateo County Grand Jury.

The case has been pending because of several pretrial motion denials which Fasanaro's attorney, Lois Scampini, appealed to the District Court of Appeal and California Supreme Court. Some she won. Some she lost.

Fasanaro, now 45, was assistant superintendent for business affairs of the college district at the time of his indictment. He has maintained his innocence ever since.

At the time of his self-surrender in November of 1973, Miss Scampini declared, "Matt Fasanaro is innocent. The truth will win out. Mr. Fasanaro has committed no crime."

The case is connected with the awarding of a half-million dollar contract to Litton Business Telephone Systems of Sunnyvale for a telephone system at the district's three colleges and San Mateo headquarters.

The grand jury indictment charges Fasanaro with accepting a $10,000 bribe "upon an agreement and understanding that his vote, opinion or action upon a matter then pending, or which might be brought before him in his official capacity, would be influenced thereby."

Also indicted were four former employes of Litton. One has never been brought to Redwood City from New York for arraignment; one has pleaded no contest, and two are scheduled to stand trial following Fasanaro's trial.

Fasanaro has maintained that the $10,000 he accepted was a "finder's fee," or a donation, to pay off an $8,500 debt from the March 1971 college district tax override election, deemed then as crucial for the survival of two colleges.

Under Fasanaro's direction as campaign manager, the measure won — and the committee which handled the election fell into debt.

Asst. Dist. Atty. J. Robert Courahon said he has subpoenaed 55 witnesses, and expects the trial to take from four to six weeks.

Presiding Criminal Superior Court Judge Frank Piombo is to appoint a trial judge on Aug. 16.

Eight Rob, Beat Man

Pizza deliveryman Daniel Fernandez, 21, of San Francisco, didn't have a chance.

Fernandez told Daly City police early Sunday that he was beaten and robbed by no fewer than eight persons after a pizza delivery turned out to be a hoax.

According to the authorities, Fernandez was dispatched by Little Joe's Pizzeria of 5006 Mission St., Daly City, to the 100 block of Frankford St., Daly City.

When Fernandez arrived, he was informed that no one at the specific address had ordered a pizza. But, as he returned to his truck — it was about 12:30 a.m. — he found himself confronted by some eight individuals, who took the pizza and all the money he had in his possession and beat him, police said.

Fernandez was treated at Mission Emergency Hospital, San Francisco, for injuries to the left side of his face, head and ribs, police said.

Comments From Citizens Welcome

Transit choices Narrowed

A weeding out of possible Peninsula transit choices has already begun by the "Pentap" study group of the Metropolitan Transportation Commission, members of San Mateo County's Regional Planning Committee have been told.

Pentap spokesman Eric Mohr and MTC representative Alva Johnson said the state-sponsored study of choices for transit between San Francisco and San Jose started with four, grew to "about 25," and is now being trimmed back.

Mohr told RPC President Aaron Jackson that selection of final choices would be coordinated with RPC's Transportation Subcommittee.

He said the original four selections had included making no changes, improving Southern Pacific, extending BART, or developing a bus system.

Johnson said the various possibilities are being assessed against cost, impact and effectiveness.

Comments from local citizens, city councils and other official bodies will be welcome, he said.

Both men said the preliminary selection of alternatives should be completed this year.

Selection of the preferred choice, incorporation of that scheme into local and regional master plans, designation of an operating agency and choice of a method of financing should come during 1977, they said.

At this point, said Mohr, neither he nor the MTC Peninsula Transit Alternatives Project has made any choice of the possible solutions to local transportation problems.

In another hearing, RPC members heard a report of their Housing subcommittee, urging support for additional low-rent and public housing in all areas of the county.

The lengthy report will be submitted to member cities and the county for comment before adoption by the Regional Planning group, perhaps in August.

Problems related to housing that face local planners, the subcommittee said, are indeed matters that cross city limits and other jurisdictional lines, and are thus regional questions.

The four major problems of housing, said Chairman Roger Chinn of Foster City, are high cost, location barriers, restrictive building codes and ordinances, and the need for planning and coordinating housing programs.

Committee member Frank Cannizzaro of Millbrae said the local jurisdictions should take advantage of every opportunity to reduce housing costs and increase the availability of housing resources.

Progress reports on other policy committees on parks and recreation, and on traffic circulation, were also received.

Bus Service To Airport

Getting to and from San Francisco International Airport is easier today.

The reason is that the San Mateo County Transit District has begun direct service to the airport.

Bus lines serving both passengers and employes are now in operation, according to a report presented Wednesday by John Mauro during a gathering of the airport's Joint Conference Committee. Mauro is the district's general manager.

Mauro told the committee members that bus service has begun from the BART terminal in Daly City through San Bruno to the airport's central terminal.

In addition to those 64 trips each weekday, there is also another service for employes which swings past the San Bruno Southern Pacific Railroad station.

That line is intended to serve workers at the large United Airlines facility.

"We wanted to begin with United and then spread out to the rest of the airport's employes," Mauro told the committee.

"The airport is a prime market for us," he went on.

There is even a possibility that a route from Hayward to the airport could be planned. During the rush hour, our system is the quickest way to the airport from San Francisco."

The link to the Daly City BART station could be considered an interim step in the direction of an eventual BART line into the airport, Mauro said.

He explained that the transit run from the airport to BART carried 455 passengers July 19.

"I'm confident that within several weeks we'll carry 1,000 passengers a day," he said.

The district plans a large-scale publicity campaign to make these new routes known to the public.

In other business Wednesday, the committee:

• Learned that the expansion of the airport is about to come to an end. When the airport's garage and north terminal are finished, no more major additions are foreseen. Much of the airport will be remodeled in the future, however.

• Established a set schedule of quarterly meetings for the body, which brings together San Francisco and San Mateo County government officials. The next meeting will be held at 9 a.m. Oct. 6 at the airport.

• Listened to a concern expressed by San Mateo County officials on the issue of noise generated by the airport.

Does the county have a role to play in the monitoring and enforcement of state noise regulations? The county wants to find out. So, county authorities will draft a letter to the state to clarify the county's role in airport noise.

Bruno Teenager Is Killed

A San Bruno teenager is dead and the 22-year-old driver of the car in which he was a passenger is in Peninsula Hospital with a hand injury following what San Bruno police alleged was a "speed contest" on San Bruno Avenue early Sunday.

The dead youth was identified by police as Michael Spingola of 2360 Princeton Drive.

In Peninsula Hospital after surgery for a severely lacerated left hand is Donald Slater, 279 Huntington Ave., San Bruno, the driver of one of the two cars.

According to police, Slater initially had been arrested on a felony drunk driving charge, but the charge was changed to vehicular manslaughter after Spingola's death at 2:10 p.m., at Peninsula Hospital.

A police spokesman said witnesses indicated that cars driven by Slater and Norman Butler, 18, of 1250 Dewey St., Redwood City, were drag racing on San Bruno Avenue when Slater lost control of his vehicle.

Road to Sveltness

A Non-Fattening Fare

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks.

I am well aware that this column frequently places hurdles on my readers road to sveltness. With a great fondness for cakes, pies, cookies, pastat dishes and other such goodies, I happily test and pass along these recipes to you good cooks.

Today, however, I offer a recipe that is not only tasty and non-fattening but is included in the Weight Watchers Program for eating and growing thinner.

No ordinary casserole this one. Ah-So Good Tuna is a whole main dish — hearty and satisfying and abounding in flavor and color. The base for this mouth-watering casserole is Weight Watchers chicken flavored gravy, with only 33 calories per cup. Casseroles prepared with homemade gravy or canned soups have many times more calories.

AH-SO GOOD TUNA

1 package (4 ounce) chicken flavored gravy mix
1 cup water
1 tablespoon onion flakes
¼ teaspoon ginger
1 tablespoon soy sauce
8 ounces drained tuna
2 cups (6-oz. package) frozen Chinese snow pea pods, thawed
1 cup cooked enriched rice
½ cup sliced celery
¼ cup pimento strips

In a medium-size saucepan, combine with a wire whip or fork the gravy mix, one cup water, one tablespoon onion flakes, one-fourth teaspoon ginger and one tablespoon soy sauce; blend thoroughly. Place on high heat and bring to boil stirring constantly with a wire whip.

Remove from heat and add the eight ounces drained tuna, two cups thawed snow pea pods, one cup cooked rice, one-half cup sliced celery and one-fourth cup pimento strips. Blend and place in a 1-quart casserole.

Cover and bake at 375-degrees for 30 to 35 minutes or until heated through. Divide evenly.

Makes two luncheon servings.

Two-Alarm Blaze

A wooden structure filled with flammable and combustible liquids was destroyed by fire early Sunday at Marck & Co., Inc., chemical division, 500 East Grand Ave., South San Francisco.

The cause of the 3:30 a.m. blaze is under investigation.

A second alarm, to obtain more manpower and a foam rig, was sounded, placing three engine companies, a truck company and the foam rig at the scene.

The extra men and equipment were needed to help protect nearby structures and several tanks of flammable substances, firemen said.

Damage was estimated by firemen at $6,000.

One Fireman, Tom Schreckengost, suffered a shoulder injury.

New Bingo Rules Told

San Mateo County Dist. Atty. Keith C. Sorenson has prepared a suggested uniform bingo ordinance for the county and its 19 cities.

Each is free to accept or reject it.

California voters legalized bingo for charity purposes last June.

Each municipality and county can elect to adopt an ordinance allowing bingo if it wishes.

Sorenson's proposal adds two twists which are not required under state law. First, he is suggesting limiting hours from 8 a.m. to midnight. Second, he is recommending a $10 license fee to cover the costs of applying.

Other provisions already part of state law include:

- Only charitable and non-profit organizations can operate bingo games.
- Each operator must be in his own facility, such as a church or owned hall, not somewhere rented.
- Prizes per game cannot exceed $250 in cash or prize value.
- No one under 18 can play.
- Operators must be volunteers receiving no salary or fee for running the game.

Sorenson, who made his announcement at his daily press conference Thursday, said that he has no concerns about organized crime infiltrating bingo games.

EARLY MORNING GOLF COURSE BLAZE

State Division of Forestry firefighter battles two-acre brush fire at the California Golf Club, adjacent to South San Francisco and State Route 280, shortly after 1 a.m. Saturday. Bulldozer ring contained the fire.

Golf Club Brush Fire

A spectacular fire was discovered burning at 1 a.m. Saturday in a brushy area of the California Golf Club south of Westborough Boulevard east of State Highway 280, at South San Francisco.

The blaze, in an unincorporated county area, was fed, firemen said, by clippings from pine trees and others on the property. Firemen battled the fire until daylight.

Firemen surrounded the blaze with a bulldozer line and contained it to a two-acre area. Eighteen State Division of Forestry firefighters fought the blaze.

They were joined by two Explorer Scout Troops totalling 18 more, that of the sheriff's office Post 810, and Belmont Police Post 12.

Ranger Bill Carter directed the fire fight, largest in the area in some time, firemen said. Water from the golf course reservoir and wells helped contain the blaze.

The Scout troops who helped fight the fire are made up of both young men and young women.

The area is known as Country Club Park. A number of residents of Westborough, across the freeway, and passersby called in alarms shortly after 1 a.m. Firemen found the two acres fully involved.

Firemen said there appeared to be no damage to the golf course proper.

Nuisance or Racism?

Plantation House Dispute on Noise

By Nancy Stenson
Correspondent

To one party it's racism, to the other it's a general nuisance, but whatever the outcome, the dispute between Charles Rabb, owner of the Rabb Plantation House, and his residentially-zoned neighbors is likely to spark some fiery action before it's over.

A string of accusations ranging from maintining a public nuisance to posing a health hazard were enumerated on a petition containing the signatures of 44 residents who would like to see their neighbor, the Plantation House, at 2666 Geneve Ave., in Daly City, shut down.

The petitioners claim the Plantation House (described by Rabb as a dining and night club) is a general nuisance that affects many neighboring R-1 residences with loud hollering and music continuing through 2:30 a.m. daily, with patrons parking on the sidewalks and driveways, littering the streets and defacing the property.

"The petition is just a way of harassing us, because we're black," countered Rabb.

"They keep after us because they don't want us around," he charged.

"I DON'T SEE how we could be any noisier than the nearby Cow Palace and these people don't complain about them," he said.

Rabb said that when the police have been called to his place, he has led them through and they've found nothing wrong.

William Frascogne, who signed the petition, said he had called the Department of Public Health to inspect the odors he believed were emanting from a garbage container.

"Why don't they complain of the smell from the Cow Palace when they have the rodeos and bring all the animals in?" queried Rabb.

City Atty. Al Polonsky, who has been looking into the dispute, hoping for some kind of conciliation, said the problem originated when Rabb, who then owned only the restaurant portion of his establishment, decided to expand his business by purchasing an adjacent bar.

That's when the charges started coming in. Polonsky said, that the establishment wasn't meeting all the Health and Safety Code requirements.

Polonsky said he called a meeting of the parties involved after which Rabb hired a security guard to supervise the premises.

However, the guard can't control what happens off the premises, said Polonsky.

"It's a ticklish problem, because how can you hold an owner responsible for something his patrons may be doing off his premises," said Polonsky.

Nellie Quinteros, a neighbor across the street from Rabb's, said racism doesn't enter the picture. "It's the noise," she said.

"I'm sure if you asked our black neighbors, you'd find they objected to the noise and parking problems, too, said Mrs. Quinteros.

"If they'd just soundproof the building to muffle the noise from the music, we'd stop complaining," she said.

Mrs. Quinteros laughed when she heard Mr. Rabb's comment about residents not complaining about noise from the Cow Palace, saying, "Oh, but we do."

Walking to the window, she pointed over to Mr. Frascogne's house and the adjacent garbage container, saying, "See the location of that garbage container and how the lid pops up. It's drawing animals, a lot of cats — and rodents, too," she said.

"We're lucky," she said, "because our bedroom is in the back of the house so the noise from the music isn't as bad, but look where Mr. Frascogne's house is, with his bedroom facing right over Rabb's place."

"You ought to talk to Mr. Wong, the owner of the El Rancho Market, or the owners of El Camino Automotive or Whiz Burgers. They're upset because Rabb's patrons are parking in their lots. They'll tell you," she said.

Police Subdue Youth In Sudden Outburst

A Daly City youth was arrested by Colma police after he allegedly attacked an innocent bystander when a service station attendant would not immediately repair his car.

Colma Police Chief James Dorris said the youth, Thomas E. Morris, 680 Sylvan St., was subdued Friday by Patrolman Art Dollosso and Lt. Dennis Garton.

Chief Dorris said Morris allegedly "went berserk" when told by an attendant at the Serramonte Standard service station at Junipero Serra and Serramonte boulevards that he would put new lug nuts on a rear left wheel, but could not do so immediately.

Morris, according to Chief Dorris, then "attacked" his own car, ripping off a heavy hood ornament and then his mother's car before allegedly turning on James F. Starr, 28, of San Francisco.

Starr fled into a nearby telephone booth for safety, Chief Dorris said, but Morris continued his attack, smashing the glass of the booth and striking Starr on the forehead with the hood ornament.

Starr suffered a bump and a 1-inch gash on the head

Treatment Plant

Pacifica Sewer Treatment Improvement Cost Doubles

Deluged with sewage problems, the Pacifica City Council met with the engineers of its treatment facility Monday night to learn why those problems are occurring and reoccurring.

The council members said they are particularly concerned that the $5 million addition to upgrade the existing primary treatment plant to secondary treatment will reduce the city's sewage treatment capacity.

Councilman Nick Gust, in particular, said the capacity of the secondary facility will place a no-growth policy on the city of 40,000 — at a time when growth can mean a financial windfall for the city's struggling budget.

In its discussion with representatives of Consoer, Townsend and Associates (CTA) of San Jose, designers of both the primary and the secondary facility, the council

—Asked that the engineers determine the cost of increasing the secondary facility capacity to treat a population of 50,000.

—Learned that it will cost the city $15,000, not $7,000 as anticipated last week, to meet the Regional Water Quality Control Board's odor control order.

—Heard city staff plans to present a sewage source control ordinance in 60 to 80 days requiring many Pacifica business owners to install costly sewage equipment.

Gust was alarmed recenty when he learned that the city's $5 million addition to its plant this fall will reduce treatment capacity by 1.7 million gallons a day — a jump backward from 6 million to 4.3 million gallons.

Although it has a much greater capacity, the present plant treats on the average approximately 3.3 million gallons.

City Manager Don Weidner explained that the state contributes 87.5 per cent of treatment plant construction costs to cities. As a result, the state also limits the size of that construction.

Meidner said the state originally had planned the Pacifica plant treat 3.5 million gallons a day. The city had to plead for the increase to 4.3 million.

State authorities grudgingly acknowledged, he said, that the new plant should serve at least the present population.

"You would have been immediately faced with a moratorium (on building)," Weidner said.

CTA engineer Peter Laubenheimer told the council it probably would cost the city from $750,000 to $1 million to build the planned treatment addition to serve 50,000 persons.

Engineer Richard Foss added that it will be far more expensive for the city to make that addition if it waits until the secondary plant construction is completed two years from now.

"We're going to be struck with no growth — that's my concern," said Gust. There inevitably will be some growth in the community through new construction in the next few years, he added.

If the plant is unable to handle that growth, the Water Quality Control Board could slap a cease-and-desist order on the city, prohibiting any further construction and calling for the treatment plant additions.

Weidner said there are several ways the city could accomplish the increase in the secondary facility plans at this date.

The council, he said, could ask the WQCB to put aside its immediate construction requirement and grant Pacifica time to redesign its plant. The WQCB already has asked the Pacifica staff to explain at an August public hearing why it is behind schedule in its construction plans.

"My eyes roll back in my head when I picture the reaction of the WQCB," Weidner said.

The council also could meet with the contractor who is awarded the bid for the project in August and arrange for massive changes in construction plans.

Other methods, he said, could include general obligation bonds, which must be approved by the city's votes, and revenue bonds, which the council could approve without voter approval.

Weidner said that regional agencies are trying to put a clamp on population growth in the Bay Area and the WQCB is sucked into that trend.

The no-growth policy, he said, is "really not all that hidden." It's not written but individual leaders of regional agencies promote it, he added.

That's one reason, Weidner said, cities are discouraged from building facilities to accommodate increased populations.

The news that odor control efforts will cost the city twice what it had expected also was a blow to the council.

After years of complaints by residents of Sharp Park — the area in which the plant is located — that the odor from the plant is intolerable, the council approved spending $7,000 last week to at least temporarily alleviate that problem.

The council was spurred by an order from the WQCB to solve that problem or face a cease-and-desist order.

However, Gus Clark, director of community development told the council Monday that he learned that two odor control units at $7,000 apiece will be necessary.

At one point, Farber and Gust both challenged the CTA engineers, asking why that firm had not solved the odor problem in the plant designed.

City staff said it believes the odor is caused by someone illegally dumping industrial waste in manholes.

"Why hasn't there been a greater concern within your company?" Gust asked.

Foss said that the closest site to dump the worst industrial wastes is in Martinez. It's very possible a local business is avoiding the costs of that haul by dumping directly — and illegally — in the manholes.

Clark said the city has attempted to track down the source of the problem but, so far, to no avail.

He said that when the source control ordinance is implemented, dumping restrictions will be much tighter. He said he anticipates the ordinance may be difficult to implement in view of possible protests by the business community.

Viets to Free Kin of Brunan

The father of a San Bruno housewife, trapped in South Vietnam for the past year, may soon be released it was announced Thursday.

Ford Wilder Thomason, the 57-year-old father of Dianne Hare, will be among 40 other Americans, who will be allowed to leave the country.

A spokesperson for the U.S. House Select Committee on Missing Persons in Southeast Asia said the committee received a telegram from the Vietnamese embassy in Paris stating that American civilians will leave South Vietnam sometime during the first week of August.

The same telegram, signed by VoVan Sugn, Vietnamese Ambassador in Paris, was received by U.S. Senators Edward Kennedy and George McGovern. Both senators have personally negotiated with Vietnamese officials for the release of Americans.

The committee spokesperson said Congressman C.V. Montgomery, chairman of the House Select Committee, notified the Vietnamese embassy in Paris July 13, after learning that some 40 American civilians have had exit permits to leave Vietnam for almost a year, but that for unknown reasons, had not been allowed to return to the United States.

The telegram signed by VoVan Sung did not state why the Vietnamese government had delayed releasing the Americans, only that the civilians and their families would indeed be allowed to leave around Aug. 1.

Mrs. Hare reacted to the announcement with some skepticism.

Since early this year, Mrs. Hare has been working for her father's release with her representatives in Congress and with the State Department and many volunteer agencies.

Coyote Beach Work Bids Asked

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors is calling for sealed bids for development of the beach area at Coyote Point Park in San Mateo.

Bids for the estimated $466,000 project will be opened by the board Aug. 17 at 2 p.m.

County Director of Building Construction and General Services Henry F. Tarrett said the project is the first major phase of permanent development for the beach area.

It will include the construction of mounds and graded open areas for future landscaping, provide permanent, roads and paths, a beach area automobile parking lot and a lighted, promenade on top of the protective dike.

Supervisor Jean Fassler expressed concern over the need to proceed with the project at the present time, stating that there may be other parks and recreation projects which would warrant holding up work on this project.

Supervisor John M. Ward noted that the board has committed itself to complete the master plan for Coyote Point.

However, he stated, the Citizens Advisory Committee on the county's park and open space plan "should address the questions you are asking."

For years we've been master planning the park and we should be going ahead," Supervisor James X. Fitzgerald commented.

Board Chairman William H. Royer stated, "We're not going to stop programs we've already started."

Contending that the North County area is lacking in park and recreation facilities, Mrs. Fassler said she thought the advisory committee might want to hold back on priorities for other uses."

Supervisor Edward J. Bacciocco Jr. suggested a two-week delay to review the situation.

Ward questioned the value of a delay, stating such an action could well develop into a six months delay.

We've adopted the master plan, we should go ahead," Fitzgerald insisted.

Mrs. Fassler joined with the other board members in approving the call for bids.

Ward inquired concerning a recent article in The Times which cited the cost of lighting for the park when it is not open for night use.

County Parks and Recreation Director John T. Brook Jr. said there are two varieties of lighting — some for night use in the marina and adjacent picnic areas, others for security and nighttime "walk through" by the public.

The park is not staffed for night use, Brook said, but the public does use the pathways.

DC Arson Suspected

Firemen are inyestigating a possible arson at an apartment house Thursday evening in Daly City.

The fire started after someone apparently stuffed newspapers around the gas box and they ignited, burning the area around the carpet at 70 Oaklawn Drive.

No one in the 12-unit building was injured, but the residents were without gas today until inspectors could visit the building.

The fire did some $10,000 worth of damage and was controlled at about 8:15 p.m., 30 minutes after it was reported.

The investigation is continuing.

$10,000 Damage in Fire

A child playing with matches is blamed for starting a fire at her home shortly after noon in Daly City Thursday.

Daly City police said the fire did an estimated $10,000 damage to the home of Hop Kiu Cheng, 425 John Daly Blvd.

Two of Cheng's brothers were at home at the time, but no one was injured. Most of the bedroom was consumed and there was smoke damage to some of the other rooms in the house, according to the fire department.

Fair Opens

By GARRY NIVER
Post Sports Writer

The Northern California county fair racing circuit was once considered just a notch below match racing for marbles down the dusty straight of a rutted country road.

Horses which had been pulling plows and beer wagons in the winter suddenly showed up on the race cards at the various little towns which made up the "leaky-roof circuit." The farmers drove the buggies and they hired smooth-cheeked youngsters to guide the broken-down thoroughbred and quarter horses.

But that is all a thing of the past now.

The 1976 version of the circuit came rolling into town Monday at Bay Meadows as the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta opened a 12-day run at the adjoining fairgrounds.

Racing Secretary Charles Dougherty couldn't be happier. "The fair committee has allocated $780,000 in purse money to be distributed over the 12-day period," announced Dougherty. "We have seven stakes event and 45 overnight purses between the $6,000 and $12,500 bracket," added the cheerful Burlingame native.

The meet will be highlighted by the $25,000 added San Matean Handicap, to be run closing day, August 7. It is the richest race ever offered on the Northern California circuit.

"Actually, this meet is a sneak preview of the upcoming Bay Meadows thoroughbred meet," continued Dougherty. "The quality of horses and the purses rival those of the major meet."

All week, horses have been filing into the Bay Meadows' barn area, arriving from all major western racing centers. There will be nine thoroughbred races, a pair of quarter horse dashes and an appaloosa contest each day. Post time is set for 12:45 p.m.

Highlighting the opening-day card is the $9,000 Fiesta Dream Girl Purse, a six furlong allowance sprint which has lured some of the best distaffers in the west. Raul Caballero will be aboard Smokie's Drill, the probable favorite.

128 to Begin Jr. Amateur

One hundred and twenty-eight boys teed off Monday in the Northern California Golf Association's 47th Junior Amateur Championship at the Lake Merced Golf and Country Club in Daly City.

Play will continue through this Friday.

Among the local competitors will be Michael Allen of Hillsborough, Tim Twietmeyer of Redwood City, Joby Ross of Hillsborough, Mark Grotewohl of Menlo Park, John Tashjian of Millbrae, Rusty McDowell of Burlingame, Eric Sonmenberg of Millbrae, Guy Young of Burlingame, Biff Brody of San Mateo, Peter Ricci of Daly City, Jeff McLaughlin of Belmont, James Evans of Atherton and Bernard Albrecht of Daly City.

South City Hoop Victor

Round-robin champion Crestmoor High beat eighth place finisher Jefferson by forfeit and fifth place South City downed fourth place El Camino 40-25 in the opening round of the Skyline summer basketball league playoffs Friday night.

Two more opening round games were to be contested Monday evening as second place Westmoor faced seventh place Terra Nova and third place Serramonte meets sixth place Oceana.

El Camino—Grines 2-3-7, O'Regan 3-0-6, Phipps 1-5-7, Mattei 1-2-4, Matoo 0-1-1. Totals 7-11-19-25.

Local Girls Earn Honors

Three local girls will be honored on Women In Sports night at the regular match between the Golden Gaters and the New York Sets of World Team Tennis at the Oakland Arena Tuesday.

Christine Forsell of Capuchino High, Diane Grimaudo of Aragon High and Nedra Jerry of Westmoor High will receive women-Sports All-Star awards from Sets star Billie Jean King.

The 34 Northern California all-stars being honored were chosen as the outstanding female athletes at their respective schools.

Bridging the Gap

By DUANE SANDUL

An age-old problem is how to communicate with young people.

Police departments throughout the nation have tried several techniques to bridge the gap between students and law enforcement.

A successful one in many San Mateo County communities has been the ride-along program — an opportunity for a youngster to ride with a patrolman on duty.

Redwood City, however, has experienced a better rapport among police and students in the classroom, not the car.

Prior to last September, Redwood City encouraged ride-along sessions, lasting four hours each.

But last September the program was abandoned. Instead, students enrolled in the Sequoia High School Government Activities Program attended short lectures by Redwood City Police Officer Clay Stringer.

Over several months, on his own time, Stringer instructed students on police history, the organization of police departments, the basics of search and seizure, crime prevention, juvenile laws, probation and parole, and various vehicle and penal code laws.

The classroom was in the police station.

Stringer came to some conclusions following the one-year experiment.

He believes that the classroom technique was more effective than the ride-along program.

In a report to Police Chief George W. Bold, Stringer asserted, "I feel that the department should not resume the ride-along program.

"First of all, I don't feel that the ride-along format allowed the students an objective assessment of a police officer's job. The students rode for a short period of time and usually saw the officer write a citation or arrest an inebriate.

"This tended to reinforce previous misconceptions of the students. The ride-along program only partially provided a means of communication between the officers and the students. Many times the officer did not feel like giving a running narration of his job.

"The reasons for this range from a bad case of indigestion to a quarrel with his spouse prior to nature and may have seemed unfriendly because of their quiet demeanor. An officer works alone all week long. Then two students are assigned to him and he is thrust into the role of entertainer and sometimes a babysitter.

"He is responsible for the students' safety and well-being. Hopefully, the officer will end his tour without an accident and hope that things he said were not misconstrued.

The classroom format, Stringer said, remedied the "bad aspects" of the ride-along format, and injected a new dimension into the program.

"The classroom format allows the officer time to explain, in great detail, what he does and why he does it. He can field all of the students' questions and attempt to answer them without the constraints of time and patrolling. A meaningful and collective dialogue is established.

"Also, it should be noted that the students are informed that the officer is instructing them on his own time. The students have identified with this and are impressed that someone would volunteer his time for them."
